Transaction revenue opportunity

Early stages of generating revenue from facilitating transactions, with near-term opportunity to leverage market leadership to unlock full earnings potential

2024 RECAP

Despite challenging trading conditions in 2024, FDV has advanced product investments focused on long-term growth, optimised its portfolio and initiated a strategic review, building a strong foundation for 2025

2024 results

- A$68.1m statutory revenue, up 2% on 2023 and A$80.8m operating revenue (including Associates), up 2% on 2023
- A$1.8m statutory EBITDA, down A$1.9m on 2023 and A$3.1m operating EBITDA (including Associates), down A$1.8m on 2023

Product investment

- Significant investment in long-term product opportunities undertaken in 2024, including:
 - Scale up of Iris and Centrifly products in 360 LATAM, both growing strongly year-on-year
 - Successful completion of Yapo’s replatforming project and new website to accelerate new product deployment
 - Launch of Avito’s dedicated new and secondary property websites in line with MMG’s verticalisation strategy

Portfolio optimisation

- FDV is currently in the process of divesting its shareholding in PropertyPro and Hoppler. It was determined that there was no clear path to achieve sufficient scale on a sustainable basis for either company
- The portfolio optimisation activities reduce the drag on earnings at the regional and group level and provide a more focused portfolio of brands

Strategic review

- Initiated a Strategic Review aimed at maximizing value for all FDV shareholders. The review is investigating options to unlock and maximise shareholder value, with a focus on 360 LATAM

2025 OUTLOOK

FDV is committed to achieving positive free cash flows in 2025 by optimising revenue mix, product set and operational efficiency to grow sustainably

Expand higher-margin products

- Focus on subscription-based services and value-adding advertising products, particularly for professional users (e.g. brokers, agents, developers), to expand average revenue per listing while maintaining low incremental costs
- Resetting transactions model in select markets to achieve a more scalable and sustainable model with stronger long-term economics
- Roll-out self-service products to private users across property, auto and general classifieds verticals to increase margins

Better revenue mix

- Prioritising higher value property vertical revenue streams by enhancing premium listing services, targeted advertising solutions, and improved user experiences that drive better monetisation per advertiser

Cost efficiency

- Emphasis on cost optimisation, including infrastructure costs, resource efficiency and marketing spend

Disciplined capital allocation

- Focus on customer segments and product offerings that maximise value and provide for profitable growth
- Reduction in capital expenditure expected in 2025

Working capital

- Optimise working capital management to improve cash conversion and controls

Commentary on results

- ① Group statutory revenue: A$68.1m statutory revenue in 2024, increasing 2% on 2023, primarily driven by FDV Asia revenue growth of 19%, 360 LATAM revenue growth of 1%, and stable revenue from MMG. Statutory revenue does not include revenue from Associates, which in 2024 was A$12.7m.
- ② Group operating EBITDA: A$3.1m in 2024 including A$4.2m (360 LATAM), A$0.7m (MMG), A$0.4m (FDV Asia) and A$1.3m from FDV Asia Associates, offset by corporate costs of A$3.5m.
- ③ Foreign exchange loss: Unrealised non-cash foreign currency translation losses during the period, primarily due to operating activities within the 360 LATAM Group. Fluctuations in foreign exchange rates within the LATAM region contributed to these losses, as did the appreciation of the US dollar against the Australian dollar, impacting loans to investees and internal entities.
- ④ D&A: Decrease primarily attributed to amortisation of domains, brands and trademarks from the acquisition of Avito (A$0.3m expiring Jan-24), Fincaraiz (A$2.1m expiring Nov-25) and Yapo (A$2.2m expiring in Feb-26), as well as intangibles in website development costs.
- ⑤ EBITDA from Associates: A$1.3m EBITDA from Associates, increasing 13% on 2023.
- ⑥ Net profit/(loss) after tax from continuing operations: Increase in net loss after tax from continuing operations primarily driven by increase in unrealised non-cash foreign exchange losses.

FINANCIAL UPDATE - 360 LATAM

Revenue of A$52.8m and EBITDA of A$4.2m, with performance impacted by transition to a higher margin and more capital efficient transaction model

Revenue (A$m)

Revenue by category (%)¹

EBITDA (A$m) and margin (%)

- Fincaraiz and Encuentra24 delivered revenue growth of 26% and 6%, respectively
- Yapo replatforming project completed during 2024 expected to deliver a strong platform for growth and new product launches in 2025
- InfoCasas impacted by plebiscite in Uruguay and decline in transactions volumes in 2H 2024 as the business transitioned to a new transactions model (refer to p.13-14 for additional detail)

- Transactions revenue increased 43% to A$10.7m, driven by 112% increase in transactions revenue by Fincaraiz
- Other revenue increased 85%, driven by accelerating revenue growth from Iris and Centrif
- Recurring subscription and advertising & media revenue declined (5%) and (32%) on pcp

- EBITDA of A$4.2m in 2024, declining 3% on 2023, primarily impacted by Yapo (-26%) and Encuentra24 (-14%)
- Fincaraiz achieved EBITDA of A$2.4m, representing a 46% increase on 2023
- EBITDA margin remained stable at +8%

1. Recurring subscription revenue includes classifieds subscription and depth products (e.g. bumps, features). Advertising & media revenue includes campaign-based media advertising and programmatic social media advertising campaigns. Transactions revenue includes events revenue, commissions from facilitation of transactions and from ancillaries (e.g. loans and insurance).

INFOCASAS - TRANSACTIONS 1.0

InfoCasas' first transactions model has been a key factor in the classifieds success however as the model has scaled, it has becoming increasingly resource and capital intensive with increasing lead leakage

Controlled by InfoCasas

- InfoCasas' transaction model focused on providing developers with highly curated leads and increasing the likelihood of a successful property transaction, with InfoCasas receiving a share of the sales commission
- First iteration of the transaction model enabled InfoCasas to build strong relationships with developers
- However, the model required upfront investment in marketing activities, while commission revenues from completed transactions were realised months later. This dynamic requires significant working capital, constraining long-term growth
- The model also faced challenges with lead leakage, which compounded throughout the transaction process, particularly as leads were transferred to developers for management through to completion. Despite efforts to minimize leakage, the accumulation of lost leads resulted in lower overall conversion rates of ~<0.5%
- In addition, lead attribution was a challenge, with the origin of the lead being contested between developers and InfoCasas

Transition to an Iris-led transaction model provides InfoCasas control of the transaction process, mitigating lead leakage as transactions are completed within the platform, with commissions paid to Iris and split with brokers

- InfoCasas is transitioning to a transaction model leveraging the Iris platform, which builds on the IP and relationships developed during the first iteration of the transactions model
- This updated model represents an evolution from a lead management focus – limited to pre-transaction activities – to processing leads at the point of the transaction
- The transaction process is controlled by Iris, mitigating lead leakage and increasing conversion rates, with Iris receiving the sales commission from developers, which is then split with brokers
- Brokers generate leads, reducing the need to invest in lead acquisition months before earning commissions, resulting in a more capital efficient model
- Iris has already demonstrated strong traction with lead conversion rates of ~5%, significantly higher than the first model, with higher margins

FINANCIAL UPDATE - MMG

Revenue of A$9.2m and EBITDA of A$0.7m, as the region continues to progress the verticalization strategy while also being impacted by challenging trading conditions

Revenue (A$m)

Revenue by category (%)¹

EBITDA (A$m) and margin (%)

- MMG has progressed the region's verticalization strategy, with a standalone new and secondary websites launched in Jan-25 which is expected to enhance engagement, drive traffic, and improve the quality of leads
- Shareholding in PropertyPro sold back to founders after FDV determined there was not a clear pathway for the business to achieve sufficient scale

- Transactions delivered revenue of A$0.9m, increasing from A$0.0m in 2023, driven by the auto vertical
- Recurring subscription revenue of A$4.8m, declining (5%) on pcp, but still representing 50% of MMG's total revenue
- Advertising and media revenue of A$3.9m, declining (7%) on pcp, impacted by decline in advertising spend in the real estate sector

- Decline in EBITDA primarily driven by increased expenses to drive future growth in property and auto transactions as part of the verticalization strategy
- Despite a decline in revenue, Tayara has improved its EBITDA position while also improving margins by 50%

1. Recurring subscription revenue includes classifieds subscription and depth products (e.g. bumps, features). Advertising & media revenue includes campaign-based media advertising and programmatic social media advertising campaigns. Transactions revenue includes events revenue and revenue from ancillaries (e.g. loans and insurance).
